DANCEZING NEWS

More beautiful photos taken by Gill to remind us of warm, sunny days to come. We have been dancing a dance called 'Bumblebee' recently too. Brighter times ahead :) x

FUN FACTS

I haven't received any news from anyone this week, so here are a couple of things that you may find interesting.

A man in Falmouth, Cornwall, looked out to sea and was amazed to see a giant tanker floating above the water!

Apparently this optical illusion is known as a 'superior mirage'.

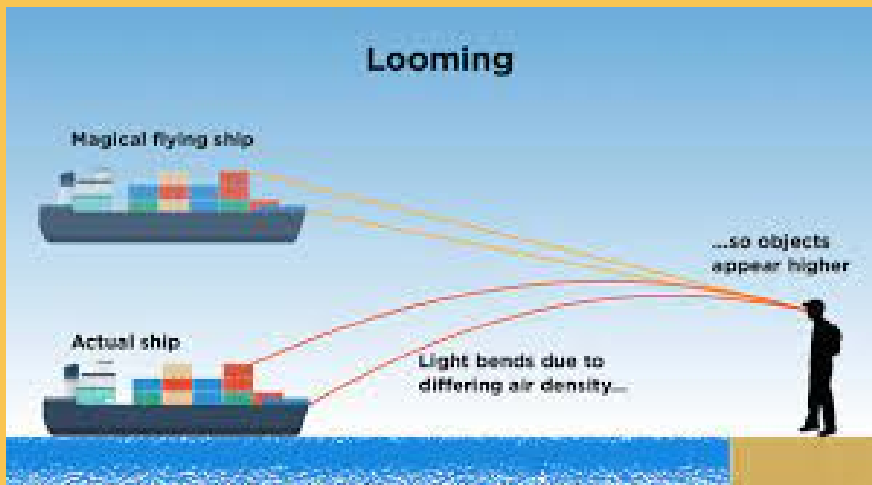

This is caused by a temperature inversion. The air below the line of sight is colder than the air above it.

Cold air is denser than warm air and has a higher refractive index.

(Remember your physics lessons!?)

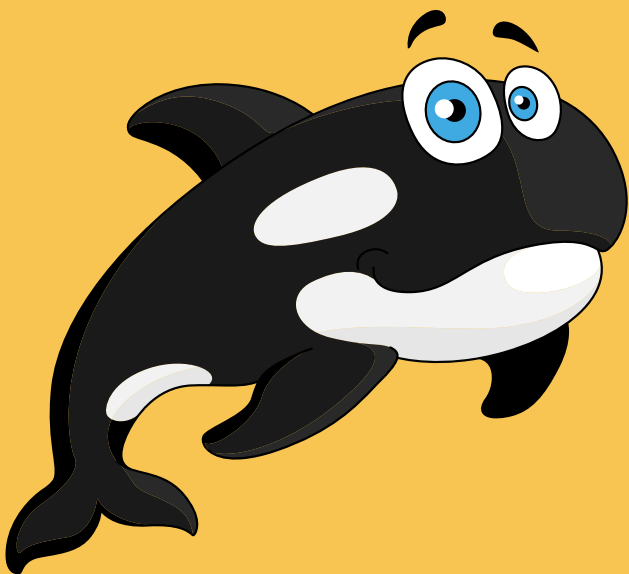

This means that light rays coming from the tanker are bent downwards as it passes through the colder air.

This will change how the tanker appears to the person standing on the shore.

FUN FACTS

Gentoo Penguins are the world's third largest penguin, reaching a height of 30 inches and a weight of 12 pounds. They live in the Antarctic Peninsula. They gather in colonies of breeding pairs that can make up a few dozen or several thousands. They have stream-lined bodies and paddle shaped flippers that make them the fastest diving bird - reaching 22 miles per hour. This is just as well, when being chased by Killer Whales. Click on the picture to watch a great video of a Gentoo Penguin's escape. It's worth watching - it will bring a smile to your face.
